Headline:
Feeling cool, but many places staying dry. Sunny spells developing.

Today:
Sunny spells will develop as cloud breaks. Some early showers are possible, mainly across Lincolnshire, but most places will remain dry, as even the afternoon showers that develop will be isolated. Feeling cool. Breezy along the coast at first. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Any early showers will quickly die away, leaving long clear spells. Air temperatures will fall close to freezing, and in rural locations a slight ground frost is possible. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Sunday:
Sunny spells and scattered showers, after a dry and chilly start. Wet and windy weather will spread east through the evening. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunny spells and showers on Monday and Tuesday, some heavy with a chance of thunder. Further sunshine and showers for Wednesday, but generally lighter than previous days. Feeling cool throughout.
